

CCAHT: AN OVERVIEW

The Community Coalition Against Human Trafficking is the only counter-trafficking organization in upper East Tennessee that works to unite and equip our community to end modern-day slavery while providing survivors of human trafficking with individualized, relational care through our program Grow Free Tennessee.

FOUR-POINT MISSION

AWARENESS

Knowledge is power, which is why we do everything we can to raise awareness about human trafficking in upper East Tennessee.

TRAINING

We train and equip primary responders to ensure an efficient response to human trafficking cases in our community.

INTERVENTION

Through the work of our locally focused task force, we collaborate with regional partners to mitigate human trafficking in our region.

AFTERCARE

We provide survivors of human trafficking with individualized, relational care that fosters restoration and builds long-term relationships.

VALUES

- We choose love first.
- We ground ourselves in survivor-centered care.
- We approach our work with humility and a spirit of service.
- We believe in the power of community.
- We create innovative solutions to complex problems.
- We serve with the understanding that healing takes time.

GET INVOLVED

ALLIES FOR CHANGE

Interested in working with survivors of human trafficking? Through our Allies program, groups of dedicated volunteers (allies) walk alongside each survivor, providing relational and emotional support throughout and beyond the recovery process.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Throughout the year we have special events and opportunities that allow volunteers to commit to a day or a few hours at a time. This is a great way to get involved for those who have demanding schedules but want to join the movement.
